COTTON MARKETS

Friday Afternoon, May 14.

Traders in the cotton market appear to be unable to decide whether to give more attention to the crop news or to the feeling of uncertainty and to some extent pessimism over conditions in business. The result of such today was a comparatively dull and narrow affair, although the census report on consumption fully met every bullish expectation.

a comparatively dull and narrow affair, although the census report on consumption fully met every bullish expectation.

Futures in New York closed steady and 5 points up to 10 off, while New Orleans was 15 to 3 points off. One encouraging feature was that some larger sales of the actual lent hope to the trade that perhaps more activity was at hand in that department.

The consumption report came an hour after the opening and showed that the American milis used during April 567,839 bailes, compared with 575,704 in March and 475,875 in April last year. The spinners had in stock at the close of the month 1,809,009 bales, compared with 1,379,000 a year ago, while spindes in operation were 34,346,000, compared with 3,3208,000. The report was all right, but the attention of the trade was directed rather at prospects for the immediate future. The effects of tight money and the crippled shipping situation because of freighte ongestion are creating uncertainty as to whether activity will be sustained, especially as there seems more disposition to restrict buying and distributors are trying to lighten their holdings. The economic side of the picture, however, hash to be measured against that attending the start for the new crop, which continues to furnish reason for concern.

The weather map this morning showed more rains in Texas, but they were chiefly in the sections which can stand them best. The cool temperatures were chiefly in the sections which can stand them best. The cool temperatures were for them to continue and become of the picture was that indications were for them to continue and become more general, all of which did not help sentiment as to the start or as to prospects for the first condition report due early in, June.

Liverpool came worse than due, private cables saying it was due to uncashess over the Irish question, allowing trade reports were by no mean satisfactory. Finals were quiet and from 47 to 34 points off. Spots were down 14 points, fully middling to 27,85d, with sales 4,000 bales, including business in yarns was very re-while business in yarns was very restricted.

In New York July opened at 38c, sold up to 38.08c, dipped to 37.82c and later recovered to 38.09c, and then sagged slightly. October opened at 35.95c, went to 38.03c and then dipped to 35.65c on weather and domestic news. But the news was so mixed as to the weather and the effect of the cool temperatures that steadiness followed and it sold back to 35.95c and then cased off some. The market was entirely a scalining affair, for nobody seems disposed to venture far at the moment.

In the spot department quotations were unchanged at all centers, while sales were some larger, Houston selling 3.521, Dallas 447, August 1.707, Savannah 754. New Orleans 845 and Memphis 750. Week's sales here were 3,950 bales and unsold stock in factors' hands is estimated at 221,000 bales, compared with 146,000 and 138,000. Linters in stock here are 21,000, compared with 57,000 and 137,000.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK May 14—The cotton market was nervous and irregular during today's early trading. The outlook was for clear weather today in the eastern belt, but weather conditions were still more or less unsettled and reports that short time in New England was entirely due to curtailment in silk mills, led to covering by some of yesterday's late sellers. After opening steady at a decline of five points to an advance of four points active months soon sold some 10 to 12 points not lower, with July touching 3:93c and October 35.99c, but the market later railied several points on covering. There was one May notice in circulation and that delivery sold at 1.13c, but there was very little trading in the near months.

The census report showing domestic consumption of $67,839 bales for April against $475,575 last year was a little more favorable than expected and may have led to some buying during the middle of the morning. Private wires, however, reported rains in drouthy sections of the southwest, while the east ern belt forecast was for clearing weather and the market broke rather sharply late in the forenoon. July contracts which had sold up to 38,08c during the carlier trading declined to 37,82c while October declined from 36,03c to 36,65c, or about 23 to 25 points net lower.

Detailed weather reports showing heavy rains in some eastern belt districts led to covering during the early afternoon, but general business respected around 25,83c, or about 7 points net lower.

Futures closed steady at advance of 5 to decline of 10 points.

Corn closed unsettled at 1½ to 27½c net advance, with July $1.777½ to $1.78½ and Sept. $1.64½ to $1.64½.

Cats hardened with corn. After opening ½c to ½c lower to ½c up, including July at $12½c to 21½c, the market scored a moderate rise all around. Weskness in hog values had a depressing effect on provisions.
